Final Presentations for Biol 1108H

It appears that we have some legitimate conflicts with the first day of our original schedule for final presentations. We have therefore decided to make our class for Thursday 4/7 an optional presentation help day and put all presentations into the last three class periods.

This means somewhat shorter presentations - 10 min plus 5 min discussion. We have kept the order of presentation the same, but please consult the revised schedule for your new presentation time. We have decided to make the due date for the written part of your project Monday, May 2 at 5PM (approximately two pages printed double spaced). You can turn these in at our last class period, April 28, if you wish, but there will also be a box in the Biochemistry main office (B wing, first floor of the Life Science building) for those who need to turn them in later. You should also use this box to return course evaluation forms (we will have these available during class for the last three meetings).

Grading of this final project will be distributed approximately as follows:
- 33% content of project
- 33% quality of presentation
- 33% participation in discussion of other presentations.
